Accessibility Services

Accessibility Services works with students to create a personalised accessibility plan to ensure access to the University and success in achieving academic goals. They help with:

- Academic accommodations
- Transition from high school
- Applying for disability-related funding
- Connecting with KPU services and supports

Call 604-599-2828 to book an appointment

Library Accessibility

At Surrey, Richmond and Langley there is a computer for users who have a vision/perceptual disability. These computers provide the same software as other student computers but with the addition of:

- JAWS: voice-activated screen reader software
- Zoomtext: screen magnification software
- Surrey, Richmond and Langley also have a print enlarger station.

Accessiblity at The Learning Centres

KPU's Learning Centres can assist students with disabilities in becoming successful and independent learners. Contact the Learning Centre on your campus to discuss your academic challenges and to develop a personalised learning support strategy. The Learning Centre is a respectful, safe, and confidential space that welcomes you to advance in your learning journey.
